

Paige Souter

The Rev. Paige Souter recently became the Humphrys Chaplain at Trinity College, University of Toronto. Prior to this she was Assistant Curate at Church of the Redeemer. She has spent her career working in roles that help to build inclusive, compassionate, sustainable and faith-filled communities. Her academic background in urban planning, community development and political science has informed a career focus on social justice – serving the most vulnerable people in society and caring for creation.

Paige notes that her career has had many twists and turns, but at the heart of it has been serving ‘the least of these’, whether as a pastoral associate, community builder, communication strategist and fundraiser. Notably, she has managed annual giving within the Diocese of Toronto and has served as campaign director for the Diocese ‘Faithworks’ program, which is akin to United Way-type campaign that supports numerous Anglican-affiliated charities in south-central Ontario.

Paige lives in Scarborough, Ontario with her husband Dan and they have three adult children, who may join them for visits at St. Peter’s. Paige and Dan enjoy camping, hiking and the great outdoors and you may meet them canoeing on the lake or hiking on the Kawartha Land Trust trails around Stony Lake. While at Redeemer, she worked with Rev. Steve Mackison (a former and present Priest at St. Peter’s), so she knows what to expect in our parish and on our beautiful lake!
